State pools expected to reopen

FALL RIVER. Thirty state-run pools remained closed Thursday after a 36-year-old woman's body was discovered at the bottom of a Fall River pool. The body was there for more than two days while other people continued to swim. Gov. Deval Patrick said he anticipated the pools being open for the Fourth of July weekend. METRO

Correction

In Thursday's edition, Metro inaccurately reported what constitutes an "illegal motor bike" in a story about a ban on the vehicles. According to the RMV, a legal motor bike is defined as "Any pedal bicycle which has a helper motor or a non-pedal bicycle with a motor that does not exceed 50 cubic centimeters of cylinder capacity, has an automatic transmission and cannot go faster than 30 miles an hour." We regret the error.

Even Bulger has right to defense, a judge has ruled

Court rules Whitey can have court-appointed lawyer ◐ Judge allows dismissal of 1994 extortion charges ◐ Arraignment is set down for July 6

▶ James "Whitey" Bulger is escorted from a helicopter by heavily armed guards Thursday.

After a week of dueling motions by prosecution and defense attorneys, James "Whitey" Bulger will finally be arraigned on his murder indictment, currently scheduled for July 6.

A magistrate ruled Thursday that the 81-year-old alleged fugitive mob boss cannot afford his own attorney and appointed J.W. Carney, Jr. as his attorney.

Prosecutors objected to Bulger getting a court-appointed attorney at "taxpayer expense" because they believed Bulger had the money to afford it.

The appointment of an attorney outraged some family members of Bulger's alleged victims.

"I don't like it at all," said Steven Davis, brother of alleged murder victim Debra Davis. "He's getting away with it again."

Also at issue was the request to dismiss or consolidate Bulger's two cases.

Chief Judge Mark Wolf, who presided over the 1994 extortion charges, allowed the prosecution's request to dismiss those charges. The U.S. attorney's office made the request because they said that case was weaker and the focus should be on the 1999 murder case.

Defending Whitey

- J.W. Carney, Jr., walked up to a seated Bulger during Thursday's court hearing and shook his hand after he was appointed to represent the alleged mob boss.
- "Our Constitution guarantees every defendant the right to a fair trial and we're going to see he gets one," Carney said after the hearing.

Season of Peace kicks off amid continuing violence

The recent shooting of a 4-year-old boy at a Dorchester playground has rattled the community and peace activists are hoping those frustrated by the bloodshed will voice a message of intolerance.

Brown's TenPoint Coalition planned to kick off its Season of Peace campaign just before the July Fourth holiday. The campaign will include basketball tournaments, peace walks and peace messages displayed on MBTA buses. METRO/MN

News in brief

T increases July 4 service

BOSTON. With thousands of people expected to be traveling to and from the Esplanade this long weekend, the MBTA announced increased train and bus service.

As part of the celebration of freedom, fares will not be collected from 10:30 p.m. to the end of service July 4. Additional T personnel and Transit police will also be on hand for crowd service and control. METRO

Man arraigned in cold case

BOSTON. A Dorchester man was arraigned in district court Thursday in connection with the murder of a Malden woman in 2007. Boston police said Shabazz Augustine, 32, allegedly murdered Julaine Jules and disposed of her body in the Charles River. METRO

Crazy Boston laughs with ImprovAsylum

Boston's ImprovAsylum didn't wait around for Los Angeles executives to come calling when they wanted to air their skit comedy series.

Norm Laviolette, co-owner of the comedy spot and executive producer of "ImprovAsylum's Vanity Project" said they didn't want to waste time pushing the series in other cities when they have a solid following here at home.

"[Boston fans] are craving it," he said. "They are what gave us the confidence to do this."

Laviolette, along with writers and co-creators Chet Harding and Jeremy Brothers, ventured into the next step of their career with the 10-episode sketch comedy, which blends a variety of humor into skits shot on-location around the city.

"We swing the gamut from fart jokes to situations so dramatic and odd you're not even sure if it's comedy," he said.

The trio plan to eventually branch out to a nationally syndicated series.

News in brief

T adjusts parking fines

BOSTON. After some customer complaints about an increase in unpaid parking fines at commuter lots, the MBTA has adjusted its new rules.

The parking violation surcharge process that goes into effect July 1 was supposed to charge $21 to customers who didn't put cash in "honor boxes."

However, the T decided to now give a 72-hour window to pay the fee. Non-payment will still result in the $20 surcharge and a "hold" on all license and registration renewals. METRO

It ain't easy not being green

BOSTON. Boston was beat out Thursday by two of its biggest rivals as the best "Green Cities."

In a recent survey conducted by Siemens Corp. the Economist Intelligence Unit, both New York and Vancouver reigned over Boston when it came to the sustainability practices and policies of U.S. and Canadian cities. The survey compared 27 major cities on CO2 emissions, energy, land use, buildings, transport, water, waste, air quality and environmental governance. Boston made the top five.

US economy's secret enemy: The weather

PHOTO ILLUSTRATION

▶ Weather: A money vortex?

Regular weather changes could cost US economy $485 billion per year according to a recent report

Global impact

We spoke with Dr. Jeffrey Lazo, the study's author:

What would you predict are the global implications of these findings?

"The U.S. economy is one of the most advanced in the world, yet it's still not weatherproof by any means. As would be expected, we found that the agricultural sector is highly sensitive to weather — but in the U.S., the agricultural sector is less than 2 percent of the economy. Countries with larger agricultural sectors (as a percent of their total economic output) will display a greater relative sensitivity to weather."

Every drop of rain, every gust of wind puts a financial burden on a nation's economy — and now we have a price tag for it. Routine, everyday weather events such as cooler-than-average days and a downpour can cost the economy of the United States an additional $485 billion per year, researchers say.

The study, led by scientists at the National Center for Atmospheric Research, estimates the cost to be up to 3.4 percent of the country's GDP, affecting all economic sectors, from finance to manufacturing to agriculture.

Quoted

"It's clear that our economy isn't weatherproof."
DR. JEFFREY LAZO

"Even routine changes in the weather can add up to substantial impacts on the U.S. economy," Jeffrey Lazo, NCAR economist and the study's lead author, said.

This is the first study to apply quantitative economic analysis to estimate the weather sensitivity of the whole U.S. economy. Dr. Jeffrey Lazo and his colleagues drew on 70 years of weather records through 2008 from across the U.S.

NCAR said this research could help policymakers decide whether it is worthwhile to invest in enhanced forecasts and strategies that could better protect economic activity from weather impacts.

However, additional costs associated with extreme weather events — such as tornado outbreaks and the possible impacts of climate change — were not calculated in this study.

gravity defyer™

VERSOSHOCK REVERSE TRAMPOLINE SOLE

Scientifically Engineered to Defy Gravity

Defy Pain, Defy Aging, Defy Fatigue

This is my story

I used to be more active. I used to run, play basketball, tennis, football… I was more than a weekend warrior. I woke up every day filled with life! But now, in my late 30's, I spend most of my day in the office or sacked out in front of the TV. I rarely get to the gym – not that I don't like working out, it's the nagging pain in my knees and ankles. Low energy and laziness has got me down. My energy has fizzled and I'm embarrassed to admit that I've grown a spare tire (I'm sure it's hurting my love life). Nowadays I rarely walk. For some reason it's just harder now. Gravity has done a job on me.

Customer Satisfaction Speaks for Itself!
4 out of 5 customers purchase a 2nd pair within 3 months.

Wear them and you'll know

That's what my doctor recommended. He said, "Gravity Defyer shoes are pain-relieving shoes." He promised they would change my life–like they were a fountain of youth. "They ease the force of gravity, relieving stress on your heels, ankles, knees and back. They boost your energy by propelling you forward."
The longer he talked, the more sense it made. He was even wearing a pair himself!

Excitement swept through my body like a drug

I received my package from GravityDefyer.com and rushed to tear it open like a kid at Christmas. Inside I found the most amazing shoes I had ever seen – different than most running shoes. Sturdy construction. Cool colors. Nice lines… I was holding a miracle of technology. This was the real thing.

GDefy Benefits

- Relieve pain
- Ease joint & spinal pressure
- Reduce fatigue & tiredness
- Be more active
- Have more energy
- Appear taller
- Jump higher, walk and run faster
- Have instant comfort
- Cool your feet & reduce foot odor
- Elevate your performance

I put them on and all I could say was, "WOW!" In minutes I was out the door. I was invincible; tireless in my new Gravity Defyer shoes. It was as if my legs had been replaced with super-powered bionics. What the doctor promised was all correct. No more knee pain. I started to lose weight. At last, I was pain free and filled with energy!
I was back in the game. Gravity had no power over me!

Opinion

TOM FOREMAN
POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT FOR CNN

POLITICAL FOOTBALL: DEBT CEILING

Like a teenage boy who can't pay the note on that spiffy, used Camaro, the federal government is apparently on the verge of defaulting on the national debt. As best I can make out, this will be like gravity being turned off, the sun exploding and the premiere of "Bad Teacher 2" all on the same day. Or it will be like just another Tuesday.

That's the problem. The idea is so unprecedented no one really knows what might happen. I am reminded of the scientists at the first nuclear bomb test who feared they might set the atmosphere on fire.

On the negative side, there have been stark predictions from Treasury Secretary Tim Geithner (aka The Prophet of Doom) who says we must raise the debt ceiling because a default could disrupt government services, drive us back into recession and generally "make it more costly for a family to buy a home, purchase a car or send a child to college." And that's the good news. Bummer.

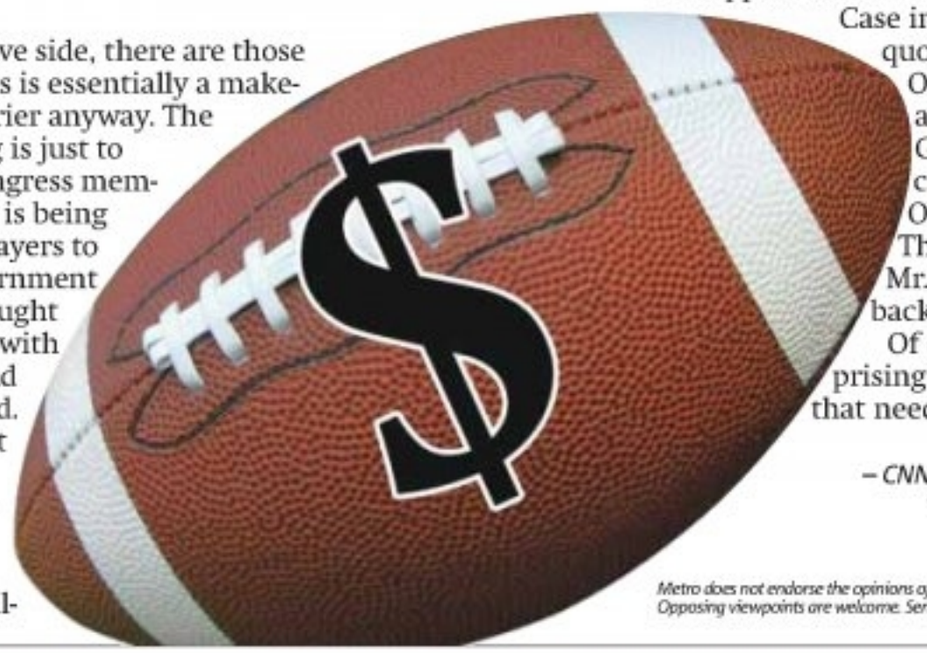
On the positive side, there are those who say this is essentially a make-believe barrier anyway. The debt ceiling is just to remind Congress members that real money is being taken from real taxpayers to pay for all their government programs and they ought not get carried away with slapping down the old Uncle Sam credit card.

As one senator put it, "The fact that we are here today to debate raising America's debt limit is a sign of leadership failure. Increasing America's debt weakens us domestically and internationally. ... Washington is shifting the burden of bad choices ... onto the backs of our children and grandchildren."

CNN = POLITICS

Quoted

"As a rule, each party has no objection to raising the debt ceiling when their man is in the White House."



Make no mistake: Many respected economic experts say that a default would be undeniably serious. But it is also true that both parties are playing politics with the issue. They have been for years. As a rule, each has no objection to raising the debt ceiling when their man is in the White House, and each screams holy hockey sticks when the opposition holds the Oval Office.

Case in point: That senator quoted above was Barack Obama in 2006, furiously arguing against President George Bush doing precisely what President Obama wants to do now. The White House has said Mr. Obama regrets his stand back then.

Of course, that's not surprising: It's his administration that needs the money now.

A midlife disaster

BRUCE TALAMON

▶ Tom Hanks is a happy-go-lucky guy in "Larry Crowne," which hits theaters Friday.

Tom Hanks didn't have to go to college to become Hollywood royalty, but 'Larry Crowne' isn't so lucky

Tom Hanks is the first to admit that "Larry Crowne," his new comedy about a middle-aged man who goes back to college after losing his job, is something of a hard sell in the crowded, superhero-heavy summer movie season. "How do we compete in the marketplace?" Hanks asks. "Forgive me, I haven't the slightest f—ing idea."

"You know, you say, here we are in a summer of big-time blockbusters. It's not the summer — it's year-round," he says. "You could interview all the marketing gurus, and they'll all talk about release dates and counter-programming and blah blah blah. But at the end of the day, it's got to be a good movie, it's got to be a funny movie and it's got to make people think, 'Hey, I couldn't have spent my time any better.'" A tall order, to be sure. But as director, co-writer and the face of Crowne, Hanks is more than up to the challenge.

The story of a man heading to college in his 50s might make most people think midlife crisis, but for Hanks that doesn't begin to cover it. "It's not a midlife crisis, it's a midlife disaster," he says. "Midlife crisis is when you wake up with everything — 'Oh, I have everything but I'm still unhappy.' That doesn't happen to Larry. Larry thinks it's the greatest day in the world and he gets fired."

Quoted

"College isn't necessary for everybody."
TOM HANKS, ON HIS OWN SUCCESS DESPITE DROPPING OUT OF COLLEGE

Hanks might not be the most obvious choice for a movie championing the importance of higher education, though. "You're talking to a guy who left college after his third year because I began work in the field that I was studying for," he explains. "Someone offered me a job as an actor, and I was studying the theater at the time." He did, however, speak at Yale's graduation this year, though it isn't likely this sentiment was included in his speech: "College isn't necessary for everybody."

And while not graduating college did work out OK for Hanks — and his co-star Julia Roberts, as well — he is quick to point out that he and his leading lady still remember the tough times.

"There is a time for both of us where we're living in a rented house in the Valley that we cannot afford, we have been fired from the job that we had and it's now been 13 months since you've actually worked in the city and the phone still is not yet ringing," Hanks says. "And you wonder if in fact you're going to take the job at the Wienerschnitzel on Laurel Canyon. When you have that moment, that never quite goes away."

'Transformers'

Michael Bay in Moscow to spite his grandpa

ANDREI SVETAILO / METRO MOSCOW

▶ Tyrese Gibson, Rosie Huntington-Whiteley, Shia LaBeouf, Josh Duhamel and Michael Bay at the "Transformers: Dark of the Moon" junket in Moscow last week.

Russian movie fans were the first to see the "Transformers: Dark of the Moon" at a glammed-up, red carpet world premiere which opened the 33rd Moscow International Film Festival.

"You know, my granddad was from Russia," the 46-year-old director of the series, Michael Bay, shared. "My granddad always said nothing good would come out of me and that all my life I'd work as a PE teacher. And so to spite him, I am holding the premiere in Moscow!"

Everyone was also interested to know if Bay was afraid to shoot the third "Transformers" movie, after the second film had been denounced by critics as the worst of the year. "I find this particular question offensive, but nevertheless, I will answer it," Bay began. "Millions flocked to the theaters to see the second movie — not bad for the 'worst movie of the year,' right?"

Bay had a question of his own: "It's interesting — will the 'best movie of the year' be able to brag about something similar? As for the third movie — thanks to many innovations — [it] has, in my view, turned out to be even better."

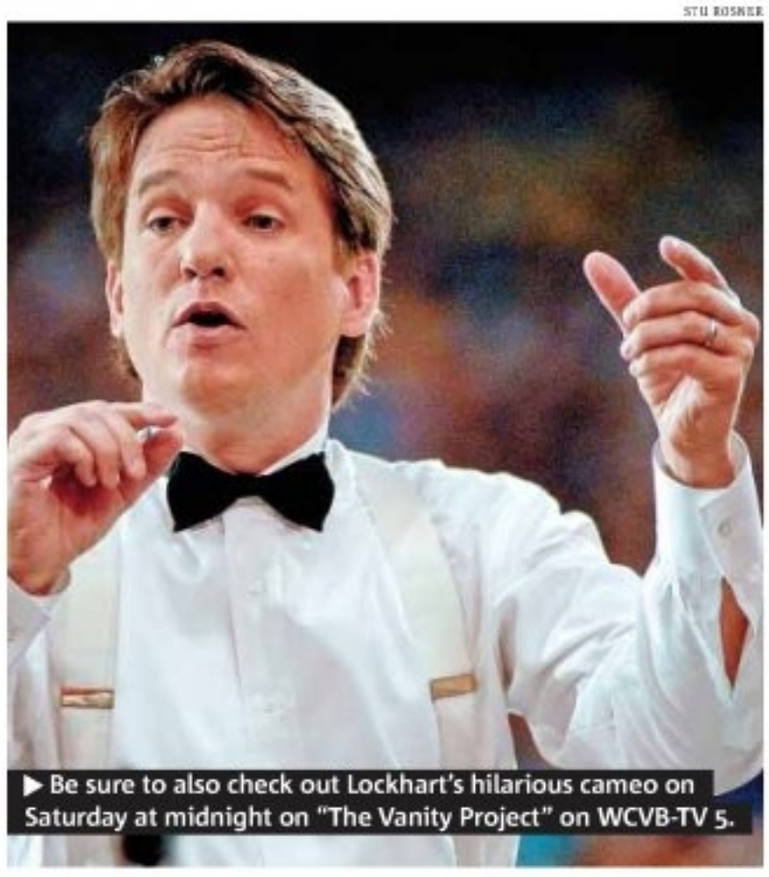
It means you can never hang out at a Fourth of July barbecue, but Keith Lockhart says he would rather hang out with Lionel Richie anyway

STU ROSNER



▶ Be sure to also check out Lockhart's hilarious cameo on Saturday at midnight on "The Vanity Project" on WCVB-TV 5.

Plans for the Fourth not locked down yet? If there's one person who knows what he's doing that day, it's Keith Lockhart. The Boston Pops conductor performs his 17th Fourth of July concert this year.

"Being in the business I'm in, I can't remember the last Fourth of July I had off. It was probably in Pittsburgh 25 years ago. I'm not sure I'd know what to do with myself," Lockhart tells Metro. "It's like I don't know why people look forward to the weekends, because I always work on the weekends."

Surprisingly, as we chat 10 days before this year's event, which features guest artist Lionel Richie, Lockhart and the Boston Pops Esplanade Orchestra have yet to begin rehearsals. In fact, Lockhart hasn't even gotten to say "Hello" to him yet.

"Growing up in the '80s, I certainly know all his songs, like 'All Night Long' and 'Dancing on the Ceiling.' There's lots and lot of planning and then rehearsals start right before the event."

If Lockhart had to choose a favorite Lionel Richie song, he says it's probably "Stuck On You." "But in terms of what will work for the audience and this event, I think 'All Night Long' is appropriate for all the people who've been there all day long," he chuckles.

Who's 'The Boss'?

Lockhart's fantasy concert

"For the Fourth of July? If we could have Bruce Springsteen singing with us, it would be hard to think what to do next. All he has to do is sing 'Born in the USA' on the Fourth of July and we've got the best possible moment." Having said that, Eric Clapton and Elton John are two more favorites: "We've worked with Elton John before, but I think that would make a great Fourth of July concert. I don't care that he's British!"

Recipes to add spark to your cookout

Recipe

Corn on the cob from Martha Stewart Living magazine

Upgrade classic corn on the cob: Swap butter for heart-healthy olive oil and season with one of these zippy toppings just after cooking. Each recipe makes enough for eight ears of corn.

Martha Stewart Living magazine shows us how to jazz up corn on the cob.

▶ Basil-Mint Pesto: Puree two garlic cloves and ¾ cups olive oil in a blender. With machine running, add 1 cup packed

Weekend recipe

Chipotle-Bacon Turkey Burger

We all know fat equals flavor, and most turkey burgers have neither. Enter the umami-centric flavors of anchovy paste and soy sauce. They give this burger a savory boost and much-needed moisture without taking over. Add a slather of spicy chipotle ketchup, and you've got a tasty turkey burger. Serve with a heaping pile of onion rings and a pitcher of margaritas for a backyard Tex-Mex feast.

Ingredients

▶ For the chipotle ketchup:
- ¼ cup ketchup
- 1 tablespoon canned chipotles in adobo sauce

▶ For the burgers:
- 1 medium red onion
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 teaspoon red wine vinegar
- 1½ pounds ground turkey breast
- 2 teaspoons soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon anchovy paste or 1 minced anchovy fillet
- 1 large egg
- 1½ teaspoons kosher salt, plus more as needed
- ½ teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, plus more as needed
- Vegetable oil for the grill

▶ To assemble:
- 8 slices cooked bacon
- 1 cup coleslaw
- 4 kaiser rolls, sliced in half horizontally and toasted

Instructions

▶ For the burgers:

1 Slice the onion into ¼-inch-thick rounds. Keeping the slices intact in their concentric rings, place three quarters of the rounds in a shallow baking dish and drizzle with the olive oil and vinegar. Season with salt and pepper and turn to coat in the oil and vinegar; set aside.

2 Finely chop the remaining rounds and place in a medium bowl (you should have about ½ cup).

3 Add the turkey, soy sauce, anchovy paste, egg, measured salt and measured pepper to the bowl with the chopped onion and mix with your hands until just evenly combined. Divide the mixture into four equal portions. Shape each portion into an even ¾-inch-thick patty, wetting your hands with water as needed if the mixture is sticky. Transfer the patties to a plate and refrigerate while you prepare the grill.

4 Heat a grill pan or grill to high (about 600°F to 800°F). When the grill is ready, use tongs to rub the grate with fresh mint and ¼ cup packed fresh basil; puree for one minute. Brush corn with pesto; season with coarse salt.

▶ Southwest Spice: Combine 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1 teaspoon each ground toasted cumin and coriander seeds and ½ teaspoon coarse salt. Brush corn with olive oil; sprinkle with spices.

▶ Black pepper and thyme: Brush corn with olive oil. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon fresh thyme; season with coarse salt and freshly ground pepper.

▶ Lime zest: Combine 1 tablespoon finely grated lime zest (from two limes) and 2 teaspoons coarse salt. Brush corn with olive oil; sprinkle with zest mixture.

5 several layers of paper towels dipped in vegetable oil. Using tongs, place the marinated onion rounds on the grill, close the grill and cook, flipping halfway through the cooking time, until softened, about eight minutes total. Transfer to a plate and set aside.

6 Using a flat spatula, transfer the reserved turkey patties to the grill, close the grill and cook undisturbed (do not press down on the patties) until grill marks appear on the bottom, about five to six minutes. Using a clean spatula, flip the burgers, close the grill and cook until the patties are cooked through and an instant-read thermometer registers 165°F, about six minutes more. Remove to a clean plate and let rest in a warm place or tent loosely with foil for five minutes.

▶ On Fridays, Dorothy will post the best tweets she received during the week. You can always let her know what you think — good or bad — at @dorothyatmetro.

This week, we asked readers (and a few co-workers) to shout out what they'll be doing for the Fourth of July.

▶ @MightyQuinn28 LBI with in-laws this weekend and then The Roots at the Art Museum on Monday in Philly! Oh and Jameson and lots of it.

▶ @artshimko I'll be in Philly for the Fourth celebrating w/my Russian wife and a friend visiting for Moscow. WE'VE COME A LONG WAY BABY!

▶ @TraOsbourne Girlfriends getaway in Atlantic City!

▶ @mfstaples for the 4th, working in the morning, selling USA product that has been outsourced globally, then Boston pops+fireworks!

▶ @NYC_Problems grilling, eating, watching, and relaxing! Like any good 4th should be!

▶ @wisemana partyyyyyyy!!!!!

▶ @metrousmusic This Fourth I'll be celebrating my Dad's 75th, my sister-in-law's 50th (she's a real Yankee Doodle Dandy, born on the Fourth of July) and basically celebrating independence with lots of watery domestic beer.

▶ @clubandcountry This 4th I will show off my national pride at my very first Pakistani wedding! Congrats @KSchachern & @Sameer_Rashid!

THE WORD

Metro's Dorothy Robinson shares her take on the world of gossip @dorothyatmetro dorothy.robinson@metro.us

Freedom from the tyranny of celebrities

www.metro.us
MORE GOSSIP
WWW.METRO.US/WORD
DOROTHY ROBINSON'S WORD BLOG

Not that I mind keeping you informed about which celebrity is sleeping with a married co-star or if some TV star is in rehab, or filling you in when a B-list celebrity from the '80s has married their Shih Tzu (it is important work, I realize this!), but I think the thing I'm looking forward to most this three-day weekend is getting a break from writing about various celebrities and their crazy antics for this column. So as we take a moment to celebrate our independence from the British (happy 235th, America!), I asked Metro staffers which celebrity they want freedom from and why. Me? Kim Kardashian. The fact that I can spell her name without Googling it shows I'm writing about her way too much.

And, of course, if you want to let me know which celebrity you'd pay to shove to the 99-cent bin of life, never to be heard from again, feel free to let me know via Twitter @dorothyatmetro. There's no way I can give that up for a weekend!

▶ Brayden Simms, "junior snark editor": I know it's died down considerably from his media torpedo of sleaze, but if I never had to read or otherwise think about Charlie Sheen again I could die a somewhat less miserable man.

▶ Monica Weymouth, Philadelphia entertainment editor: I want freedom — sweet freedom! — from Ke$ha. The girl is like cheap vodka. She's terrible for me, she smells gross, and yet ... and yet.

▶ Heidi Patalano, film editor: Lindsay Lohan – She keeps screwing up and she keeps getting more chances to keep screwing up. It's like a never-ending episode of "Intervention."

PHOTOS: GETTY IMAGES

All judges return to 'The Voice'

With high ratings and a huge fan base, it comes as no surprise that all four judges of "The Voice" — Christina Aguilera, Adam Levine, Cee-Lo Green and Blake Shelton — are signing back on for the second season, which will get underway in 2012. Aguilera "is very excited" for the next season, an insider close to the singer tells Us Weekly. "It has been an amazing experience for her!"

▶ Pat Healy, music editor: I'd like independence from Chris Brown. Dude should have had his fame revoked altogether for the Rihanna incident, but what's worse is that he's more of a nuisance than ever with his Dennis Rodman 'do and morning talk-show temper tantrums. Plus: He wore a pair of jean shorts to the BET Awards. Unforgivable!

▶ Sam Castone, editor: "The Hunger Games" movie. My choice is not a celebrity, but it's treated like one: Every casting announcement made the news, forcing me to now have an interest in the book. I'm not annoyed at all the publicity. I'm mad that it worked.

▶ Gina Angelotti, designer/writer: Kristen Stewart. Because that one-note pouty beanpole is still kickin' it with my imaginary vampire boyfriend.

▶ T. Michelle Murphy, theater critic: Any dads commenting on their daughters' every move because they are media whores and worse than pageant moms. (See: Daddy Lohan, Billy Ray Cyrus)

▶ Amber Ray, features editor: Can all the "Teen Mom" girls try to focus on their teen and/or mom job descriptions instead of scoring gossip magazine cover stories? Please?

▶ Ned Ehrbar, Hollywood correspondent: For me, it's a blanket reality TV request. No more "Jersey Shore" cast, "Bachelorette" contestants or "Real Housewives" of anywhere. They're cheapening our already deeply discounted pop culture landscape. Oh, and I'm maintaining my forced ignorance on what a Kardashian is.

Talking points

Richards adopts girl

Denise Richards, the ex-wife of Charlie Sheen, has adopted a baby girl from the United States. "Eloise Joni Richards is named after Denise's mom (Joni), and Denise and her daughters Sam and Lola chose the name Eloise," her rep told People. Her mother passed away in December 2007 from cancer. "Denise and Eloise's big sisters couldn't be happier and feel incredibly blessed."

Speaking of Sheen ...

Charlie Sheen is coming clean about abusing steroids while making "Major League," his 1989 comedy. "Let's just say that I was enhancing my performance a little bit. It was the only time I ever did steroids," he tells Sports Illustrated. "You can print this, I don't give a f—. My fastball went from 79 [miles-per-hour] to like 85."

949 Comm. Ave., Boston
$15-$25, 800-838-3006
www.newexhibitionroom.org
It's well-known that a zombie apocalypse is always just around the corner, but the question remains: Are you ready? Prepare yourself with this interactive theatrical event: Pick up a survival kit, kiss a zombie in the kissing booth and get a sneak preview of the "Zombie Double Feature" project from the New Exhibition Room.

Museums

▶ 'Free Fun Fridays'
Friday, 9 a.m. to 9:45 p.m.
465 Huntington Ave., Boston
617-267-9300
www.mfa.org
Not only can you check out any MFA exhibit at this kickoff celebration of the Highland Street Foundation's Free Fun Fridays, but you can also watch a pair of stilt dancers and attend a glass-blowing demonstration. There is no guarantee that attending this demo will enable you to create works like Dale Chihuly, but it is a good start. By the way, you can also get to see the Chihuly exhibit for free. You may be (glass) blown away.

▶ Joseph Holston's work will be on display at Gallery 360.

Art

▶ Color in Freedom: Journey along the Underground Railroad
Through August 18
Gallery 360, Northeastern University, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston, free, 617-373-2132, www.neu.edu
An exhibition of 50 paintings, etchings, and drawings by Joseph Holston, all concerned with the American slave experience, from the slave ship to emancipation, which Holston depicts in a beautifully colorful, primitive style reminiscent of Picasso, Keith Haring, West African sculpture and even stained glass windows. Though faceless, these universal figures brim with pathos. Powerful.

Music must-see

Musical Mistresses of Myth and Magick

Friday, 8 p.m.
Lily Pad, 1353 Cambridge St., Cambridge
$20, 617-858-0365
www.lily-pad.net
Those of you who wished Stevie Nicks had been an actual witch might be interested in Wendy Rule, Kellianna and Sharon Knight, three singer-songwriters with similar but more overtly occult personas. Mixing Celtic, gothic and folk rock with fantasy and mystical experience, they transcend the mundane.

Comedy

▶ The Mary Dolan Show
Friday, 8 p.m., Oberon
2 Arrow St., Cambridge
$10-$35, 617-496-8004
www.theoriginalmary.com
Mary Dolan, a surprisingly spry, hilarious and horny 86-year-old song-and-dance vet known for her role in "The Slutcracker" and other bawdy shows, has finally, in heroic defiance of good taste, earned a show all her own. She'll tell somewhat hazy stories of sexual misadventures and sing naughty tunes.

Freedom to love, part two

RE: "GAY RIGHTS AND WRONGS": The real issue here is whether the state should be able to use its coercive powers to either deny or allow two consenting adults to participate in a private contract. My opinion is no, the state should stay out of private contracts. The only time the state should get involved is when there is a dispute between the parties of the contract, and even then most disputes can be resolved through arbitration. Call it what you want, but don't impose your views on me.
KELLY DONNOE, VIA E-MAIL

What percentage of the country is gay? What percentage is jobless? I bet jobless is higher, but somehow it's played out like gay marriage is so important! I blame the media. I'm so sick of these small interest groups jamming their agendas down my throat! Media covers the 20 percent; meanwhile the 80 percent get blurbs here and there only to be made fun of by late-night talk-show hosts.
MIKE YAHOO, VIA E-MAIL

Just as two magnets of the same polarity will repel each other in nature, so should this be the case with gay and lesbian relations. This is the reason why two people with the same reproductive organs cannot produce a baby. Not because I, or anyone else, said so; but for the simple fact that this is the way the creator laid out the blueprints for the human race to follow.
JONATHAN PERRY, VIA E-MAIL

Yes, it's true that some in the Old Testament practiced polygamy. It should be noted, however, that this is merely the recording of a historical fact and not necessarily intended as a didactic lesson. Yet even in those instances, the sexual union was still between a man and a woman.
JASON FARRELL, BRIDGEWATER

Tulips and roses: Different names but both are beautiful flowers. Male and female are two different names from the same species. Both get the same protection from law enforcement. Females go to female restrooms and males go to male restrooms. But both can defecate and urinate in their respective rooms. How is this not equal, though they are called different names?
ISAGANI MAGPANTAY, VIA E-MAIL

Upon reading Steven Ahern's letter yesterday, I laughed so hard I got looks. Steven's letter suggesting the term "schmarriage" for gay couples perfectly illustrates the ridiculousness of this issue. With the divorce rate at almost 50 percent, the "sanctity of marriage" has bigger problems.
ALISON SARDONINI, VIA E-MAIL

Horoscope

♋ Cancer June 21-July 22. Only if you have the necessary stick-to-itiveness to work things out can you achieve the success you're looking for. However, you might first have to experience a test of wills.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 22. You could do yourself a grave disfavor by putting more stock in the opinions of others than you do in your own thinking. It's not necessary to penalize yourself in order to get along.

♍ Virgo Aug. 23-Sept. 22. It might be safer to refuse someone who wants to borrow something that you consider precious. You could be risking ever seeing it again.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23. You aren't likely to escape experiencing some frustrations. By keeping a cool head as well as your humor intact, you can achieve your objectives and minimize the negatives.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22. Do what you can to be helpful to others, but not to the point of allowing them to overload you with their burdens. Let them fend for themselves.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21. Take care not to absentmindedly jump into new involvements without first considering all the ramifications. Operating in haste is a surefire way to trip over your own feet.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 19. It's one of those days when you can operate with greater efficacy if you're able to perform your tasks at arm's length from others. Even some well-intentioned people can be disruptive.

♓ Pisces Feb. 20-March 20. Guard against inclinations to change things that are presently running smoothly. All your well-meaning adjustments are likely to do is penalize you for your efforts.

♈ Aries March 21-April 19. In order to reach an agreement, it might be up to you to make a sensible concession, but do so only if your counterpart will reciprocate. Hopefully he or she will act on your cues.

♉ Taurus April 20-May 20. Beware of a disgruntled co-worker trying to involve you in a problem she or he created in order to take some of the blame off him or herself. Don't let this person get away with it.

♊ Gemini May 21-June 20. A companion might have something that could turn out to be a good deal, but not necessarily in the form it's being presented. Be sure to check it out first before agreeing to go along with it. BERNICE BEDE OSOL

SUDOKU TRIPLES

How to play

- Sudoku Triples consists of three standard Sudoku panels, sharing one set of 3-by-3 boxes.
- Each row, column and set of 3-by-3 boxes must contain the numbers 1 through 9 without repetition.
- Each 3-by-3 box in the shared section of the three panels is filled in identically.
- Therefore, finding a number in one box in the shared section advances the other boxes.

6: Which chap with a repetitive name landed in some hot water over his choice of transportation?

7: Which murder trial saw fistfights erupt between spectators trying to snag a hot courtroom ticket?

8: What three-word euphemism did Defense Secretary Robert Gates use to describe the U.S. military action in Libya? (Adding that, to Muammar Gaddafi, it was probably just "war.")

9: When a 110-year-old man died in a Paris suburb in May, which British woman became the last of her kind?

10: Which confessed tax evader designed one of the world's largest nests?

MUSIC

1: While no musician has taken a version of the "Star Spangled Banner" to No. 1 on the Billboard charts, which New Jersey native took it to No. 6, 10 years after recording it?

2: Which orchestra has the longest-running record of playing a major free fireworks show on the Fourth of July?

3: Which outspoken musician recently suggested that Philadelphia could be the type of wild party destination on Fourth of July that New York City is on New Year's Eve?

4: Which classic rock band, with a high-flying patriotic name, had a guitarist who actually ran for President of the United States in 1980?

5: What seemingly happy-go-lucky folk song was written as an angry response to the patriotic Irving Berlin song that occasionally replaces "Take Me Out to the Ballgame" during the seventh inning stretch in some baseball games?

6: What was the first song with the word "America," "American" or "U.S.A." in the title to top the Billboard charts?

Can you name these three patriotic albums?

CRUISE CONTROL

After a tough series, Red Sox facing some easier opponents First is Houston, the league's worst team

After finally finding their form in Philadelphia, the Red Sox have a nice, downhill road to the All-Star break.

Boston has three series left before the Midsummer Classic. And all three are against teams that won't catch a whiff of the playoffs this year.

The Sox finish their interleague road trip in Houston, starting Friday. The Astros are the worst team in baseball — no other team has fewer than 30 wins so far, and they're more than a dozen games out in the NL Central.

Houston was riding a five-game losing streak going into last night's game against Lone Star State rival Texas.

Boston is finally back at Fenway Park on Monday for a three-game set with the Blue Jays. Toronto's hovering around the .500 mark, but that's only good for fourth in the brutal AL East.

The Jays are well below .500 against divisional opponents in 2011.

A four-game home set against the Orioles closes the Sox's first half. Baltimore is last in the AL East, and they're terrible on the road: 13-21 this year.

METRO

Phinally, a victory

The Sox avoided a sweep Thursday, beating Philadelphia 5-2.

- Jon Lester carried the day, throwing seven shutout innings. He surrendered just two hits and two walks.
- The Sox couldn't do much against Cole Hamels, but the Philly LHP left the game after four innings when he took a line drive in the glove hand.
- After Hamels left, Boston lit up Philly's relievers. Jason Varitek led the way, hitting a pair of home runs.

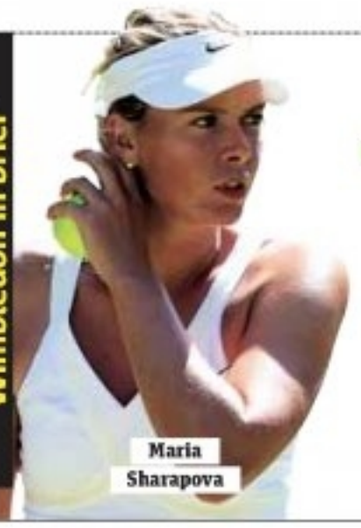
Wimbledon in brief



Maria Sharapova

Sharapova in

- Maria Sharapova might be the glamour girl of tennis, but she showed Thursday she's not averse to winning ugly. She overcame some jitters to top Germany's Sabine Lisicki, 6-4, 6-3, in the Wimbledon semifinals. It's Sharapova's first All England Club final since 2004, when she was 17.

Kvitova, too

- Petra Kvitova showed will, ambition and control of her nerves Thursday, overcoming Victoria Azarenka, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, to earn a spot in the Wimbledon women's final against Sharapova. It's the first Grand Slam final for the No. 8 seed from the Czech Republic. She fell in the semis last year.

Men's semis set

- The men's semifinals are set for Friday, with No. 12 Jo-Wilfried Tsonga meeting second-seeded Novak Djokovic and No. 1 Rafael Nadal squaring off against No. 4 Andy Murray. The latter will be a fan favorite: No British man has won a Grand Slam event since Fred Perry in 1936.

Tour de France preview

- This year's route is heavy on climbs, with six mountain stages, three medium-mountain stages and just one individual time trial.

THE DEAL:

The Tour de France starts Saturday, with a flat stage from Passage du Gois La Barre-de Monts to Mont des Alouettes Les Herbiers. Versus has live TV coverage (8 a.m.), with a re-airing at 2 p.m. on NBC. The race ends July 24 with the annual ride into Paris.

ANALYSIS:

Doping, as usual, overshadows cycling's greatest race. Alberto Contador — who's won six grand tours in his career — tested positive for clenbuterol during last year's Tour victory. Even so, he should be clear to ride this year's race, and starts as the odds-on favorite due to his climbing and time trial prowess. Andy Schleck, famously victimized by a dropped chain during last year's Tour, is nearly as good a climber as Contador, but suffers on solo stages. (Lucky for him, there's only one of those.) Ivan Basso is a two-time Giro d'Italia champion. Chris Horner is the American with the best shot of winning.
